Let me guess. You're the kind of person who would shoot first and ask questions later? The kind of person who would get scammed by some con on the internet and then blame the whole lot of people on the internet as a whole for your problem?

Here is a little hint unless someone already brought it to your attention: Just because the title of this forum is "Renegade Forums" doesn't mean that it is a know-all, do-all hub for everything that happens in the game.

You got banned by some jerk mod? I'm sorry to hear that, welcome to the club. Just know that we:

1. Have no connection with the people from the server you were playing on.
2. Have no say in the legality of your ban.
3. Frankly don't give a damn about your problems.

Unless someone from that server's website also posts on this forum, you're not going to get anywhere insulting or complaining at us. You might as well be complaining to your parents that some kid picked on you...
