The screenshots shown before your post were almost exclusively of the buildings and vehicles, which Aircraftkiller said he was working on. Therefore we didn't really have much of your work to comment on previously.

At least, that's why I directed my comments at Aircraftkiller directly instead of to both of you as a pair initially, not sure about anyone else.

Although looking back there are a couple of props and such towards the end of the first couple of posts, I suspect the forums had a brain fart and stopped loading properly partway through or something, or I was simply being extra blind that day.
