Any kind of disruptive flooding annoyances are considered, in my eyes, as an intensive to ban the accused flooder. Based on the severity of the problem and how many times he may have been have previously been banned for the same issue, plus ban evasions certainly warrants it.

The people who haven't even heard of him let alone have played with him in-game jump on the "he's a badie admin and sucks i h8 him he r made me mad, bro" wagon.

Personally I think that bringing up entirely different topics being completely unrelated to slam the admin(s) is entirely useless, even I would ban for that.
