Trust? Who the fuck cares? Why does it matter? Don't put information up in a social network that you're not comfortable sharing in public. Assume that anything you put up will be public information, treat it accordingly.

Google+ being a "beta" is not an excuse for it sucking dick.