Hypnos likes his grammar/spelling/punctuation as much as you do so that's why there isn't a but. Normally I don't bother correcting these things. If, however, someone is going to make a thread laughing at someone for being unable to spell a nine-letter French word (albeit one which has largely entered the English language), perhaps we might highlight the fact the thread's protagonist - an American - can't seem to spell a three-letter English word.
