sjezk3Ok if some guy draws a picture of the alien from the film alien i dont think anyone would sue him in anyway i cant see how this is any diffrent i mean its not as if your making money from that particular model :rolleyes:

Maybe so, but this has been gone over before. You don't need to make money off of it to be sued for copyright infringement. All they have to do is prove it's close enough to theirs and they have proof that they hold the rights. Money isn't an issue.
