No TieSTo's please.

I was under the impression Wilo did not act entirely alone, there has been rumors floating around that several of his staff were either aware of the flooding or were helping with it themselves.

I know that at least one other person knew of him abusing various things in the community war.

@MDK, I see no reason why you would be supporting Wilo. He was the one who staged your hacking events in other servers to get you banned.
