Do not be discouraged by some twerp who flames you and other mappers and modders. I am a player not a mapper and I and MANY others really appreciate all the long hours of effort that you all put in. If someone is so mean hearted that he has to flame those just starting out it does not say much for him.

Everyone in every field has to start from scratch. The decent types will help nOObs just learning their trade - whatever that trade may be. You will see MANY MORE expressions of support throughout our community than flammers.

Take heart and keep the faith baby! Keep on mapping!
