falcod wrote on Thu, 01 March 2012 15:13Edit: And what exactly am I supposed to say to wilo? What I said to him, which was the following:

JUST STOP BEING SUCH A CUNT

the first few times I said it was more polite than this. it started off being phrased more along these lines
"no more ddosing and hacking, no more e-threats, no more trying to lie your way out of it and frame other people for what you're doing, just leave other people alone" i said this over and over and over again, at the risk of e-attacks from a script kiddie with obvious mental problems, cos unlike you i've actually got a set. this is what wilo desperately needed to hear, and it's a shame his parents never said it to him cos maybe then he wouldn't be doing much worse than ddosing.

i actually did something to try to save st0rm, so did crimson (in a different way); now how about you just pipe down and accept the fact that you did nothing.

Quote:Quote:if you could've been bothered saying anything to wilo (who unlike anyone here, wanted to see st0rm destroyed) instead of the victims of his e-attacks, not only would you not be here making excuses as to why you didn't stand up to him, you might even still have a server.

is just an unbelievably far-fetched delusion lol. there's no way that would have worked... and if more of you had done so, if you st0rm regulars had had the balls to tell wilo that him going so far out of his way to aggravate the situation was gonna be the death of st0rm, and he ignored you, that would be a result too. he'd have been utterly discredited among his own community.