They have the same stupid owners mentality, both have a penchant for flooding servers, lying, cheating, reading people's private messages, and stealing passwords. I'd pretty much say they are peas in a pod. The funny part about all of this is Xpert/iran distancing themselves.

you should apologize for how wrong this statement actually is; if you're not intentionally lying then there's something seriously wrong with you lol

as for the people that said Wilo needs to get out more - maybe if he's escorted by police or something wouldn't want him to hit any more pregnant girls in the stomach until they have miscarriages it sounds so fucking ridiculous to hear that but it's even more fucking ridiculous that it's true You weren't there, so you have no idea how his episode played out. Reading things in a "newspaper/online court", is a whole lot different than what may/may not have really happened. It's kind of like him throwing that bit about Crimson's "fraud" into this. It doesn't make it true.
