Does it tell you "version mismatch" or some TT message like "client version ... is not compatible to server version ..." (not sure about the exact phrasing of the latter)? In the first case, something is wrong with the default Renegade files, corrupt always.dat, objects.ddb, etc. In the latter case it is an issue caused by incompatible versions of TT.

If you get a version mismatch, check if you can join another server with your client. If so, it's a server side issue, otherwise a client side issue.
