ThisLittleGirl wrote on Mon, 02 April 2012 10:33 I don't know st0rm but I sure as hell sympathise with them. I've been both permanently banned from S-T before with false warn-log entries by an admin and from the game as well for a totally ridiculous reason with no proof disclosed by them whatsoever. The way Xwis "the official server" is treating the community they really don't deserve to have one and they certainly don't deserve to be running these games either. It's no wonder these attacks are only increasing and I wouldn't be surprised if this is the end of Xwis or may be it soon.

Greetings,
Alex

you compare a false-ban that you once experienced on some obscure server to this situation? that's horribly inaccurate, at best

Wilost0rm was flooding and crashing other servers multiple times a day for literally months on end, non-stop the only server that still filled up on a daily basis was his main target, and his goal was to get all of those players to join his server; this game is over 10 years old now, and terrorism of that magnitude isn't good for Renegade as a whole once it was determined that it was indeed him both he and his servers were banned it was made clear that if he was removed from the st0rm picture that st0rm would be allowed back on and everything would be fine the fact that he did not offer to step down shows how much both he cares about Renegade now the rumor is that him or someone associated with him is flooding XWIS so no one can play; if you honestly view what XWIS did as wrong then you should view this as very, very wrong funny how you seem to think that sort of behavior is justified
