There are some very good players in public, Excellent aim with tanks and infantry, but they would not be good in cws.

Some of the best players I knew from clanwars were not the best at either aim or tanking (they were good enough).

They knew what to do and when to do it, that was all it took.

I had a 1v1 a few years back with some mouthy git from a public server on field.

He killed two of my arty's with a med and i was very surprised... he was more surprised when i fake nuked, snuck a stank out and killed his base (he died to my mines on his rush).

I won in a shitty shady way because he didn't understand tactics in 1v1s and thought his tank skills were good enough to win.
