I didnt think i would like savage but i do. As one of the three "old guys" in clan CW who are tanks and rts and not really fps, i was sceptical. However, I decided to try it after stripey and trunks when on about it. after a week on the beta, im hooked and got the game. What i like is the real team play, graphics-terrain and the support the game developers throw behind it. I think S2 will offer something we havent seen in a game maker in a while, real game support and participation. Hope to see you guys around in the game, later...
