(2)Don't fucking copy the source of a quickly thrown up frontpage document and think you're making me look stupid. I even told everyone that I threw it up very quickly. It would take two seconds to make the main page into asp or a simple frameset --- then add a javascript that prevents you from viewing the source. Or, further, writing an algorithm to encode the source. I didn't put effort into the site at first ... and to be honest I'm playing with web design. I'm real sure that all of your sites are hosted at your house on a webserver that you personally set up and secured, and written in pure html via notepad. Hmmm. Let me go check right now.

   Well, BlazeRegulator.com is running IIS5(win2k) and appears to be hosted through a company and not from your home network. And the domain was purchased through godaddy.com. Ironically registered to Crimson (like every other site she tries to monopolize on).

   So, what program do you use to update your site? Frontpage? Dreamweaver? By the way you're missing your meta tags. You might want to undelete them along with the rest of the header information you took out.

OMG any web developer worth their shit knows META tags aren't used anymore. FYI, BlazeRegulator.com was designed by a guy named Carl, which he converted to HTML. Dante and I coded the rest of it, and both of us use notepad equivalents. Personally, I use TextPad. I don't think Cisco would have just hired me to do a lead management system for their networking academy if I were some FrontPage or DreamWeaver loser.

Quote:(4)RenEvo is completely different than what I was trying to run. RenEvo does its own thing. I'm not trying to run anything or lead anything. You idiots keep thinking that and I keep telling you that's not true. I'm trying to coordinate efforts between different groups. But hey, you can pick your ass all day and boast about your super program that will eventually be cracked. I don't give a shit anymore.

I don't know what you think "coordinating efforts" is if not leading. It doesn't take any skill for you to say "Hey, mac, talk to Bob. He's doing some anti-cheat too".

Quote:(5)Vent all you want. I'm not intimidated by anyone here because there are probably only 3 people on your team (and you're not one of them) that have more programming experience than me based off what you've said on the fourms. So it's not like I'm overly impressed. I've been playing the game ... not working on mods, skins, maps, or patches like you guys do. If I would have got into that in the first place like you, I'd be right next to you right now and probably on your teams. Again, you don't know anything about me.

If you don't do maps or mods, how do you expect to know enough about the cheats to stop them?

Quote:And, again, I know HTML quite well. I just don't sit in front of my website 24/7 like you guys do.

 :rolleyes: This argument is no better than a 12 year old's.

Quote:I'm not going anywhere. Nor is there anything you can say that will discourage me or deter me. I've fought with the ugliest blackhats in the underground before in a full blow war. Arguments and flames on a forum are petty shit. You don't scare me Commander-in-chief Dante and your army of goons. Go ahead and tell Crimson to ban me from the forums too (I know you're considering it). What good will that do? I'm sure this nice little blurb of php hypertext processor code you call a forum resides on a quality network with HIDS, NIDS, f/w's, quality syslogs, and coorelation systems. Sounds fun!

I'm sure the Department of Defense would LOVE to see you using their systems to threaten hacking. That's a REALLY quick way to lose your job.

Quote:You know, I didn't really know you until this experience. And come to find out you like to boast about your work and work for fame. Then you flame everyone who opposes you.

Well, my friend ... if you want to play in the big boy world on big boy turf -- I'll play your game. It's been years, but I'm ready to 'get back to it". Then the community can blame your ass for the stupid comments you said to fl00d3d that triggered it. You truely would have been better off to get to know me and "tame me" (as some have put it in the past) and use me to your advantage --- not demise.

Good day to you.

Mmmm... finds out how to contact the Department of Defense...

We didn't flame you. Remember this. We merely tried to tell you that we already have a project, already have the resources, already have a leader.. .and had no use for the assistance you were offering. Now if you came in and said you want to help secure RenGuard because you are a hacker, then we would have listened. It's just like when the telemarketer calls and wants to shampoo your carpets when all you have is tile. The telemarketer doesn't scream at you and threaten to tear your house down because you don't need your carpets cleaned. They just hang up.
