We have moved the Renegade section (the other sections will follow shortly) to a new domain. ren.game-maps.net is now redirecting new users and content to our .org counterpart.

One of the reasons we made this switch is to allow user uploads in an somewhat easier fashion. Submit a file, screenshot it and have a conversation with people who download it. Also the old AdminCP we used was quite complicated to use for new staff members, this is much easier on them.

For now Guests are allowed to upload files to the forums. We are currently testing this ability. In the future we might disallow that again, this entirely depends on the amount of spam that may slip through.

Anyhow, have fun on the new site, spread the word and submit your stuff
