Subject: Re: More general Database handling
Posted by Sonarpulse on Sat, 19 May 2012 07:01:05 GMT

Well, as to incompatability, you could always keep the ability to read the binary formats and export their text counterparts. But, I can't really say anything to the issue of bugs. Thanks for letting me know.

Edit: While I've bumped this thread I guess I'll fire away with another question: Do any presets still need GDI or Nod in their name for hardcoded reasons, and if so can that easily be changed?