

---

Subject: Re: Latest Technology

Posted by snpr1101 on Wed, 23 May 2012 11:06:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

A short while ago, I read about a new type of solar panel being developed at MIT (I think).

Instead of the usual rectangular flat solar panel, a new design has been made in which the panel resembles an oddly shaped column, standing vertically.

<http://www.engadget.com/2012/03/28/mits-3d-solar-cells-take-cubism-to-new-energy-efficient-heights/>

---