Crimson, If I may ask. Why is ACK and his goons allowed to break all the rules on your forums, and get away with it. Seems to me that rules are put into place for everyone and not a select few.

In this thread alone he has Derailed the topic, Spammed pictures, Flame baited members, harassed members, grammar corrected, and there has been no stop. This thread is indeed about The Avengers and complies with the rules in the OFF topic forms, where it was started. Someone has move this topic to heated debates. Which it was not. Also posts have been deleted so the excuse of "maybe no mods were around" can not be used. Just a long time member looking for some answers.
