

---

Subject: Re: Dcomproductions forums?

Posted by Dave Anderson on Wed, 13 Jun 2012 04:17:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Quote:Unfortunately we set an expiration date on how long we would continue to expose Renegade content on the forums. DCOM Productions has not been affiliated with gaming in any way for several years now since we legally established as a software business.

However, all is not lost. I am working on handing the database over to a 3rd party who may continue to host that content. Details are being worked out and may take some time, but it is an issue that is currently being addressed, because I understand the important of the content that was removed.

I will make an official announcement once all the details have been agreed upon, and a final decision has been made.

I am working to finish working out the details as soon as possible, so stay tuned for an update soon.

---