Oh sorry, I went and made a cup of vanilla chai tea. mmm, delicious.

You missed the point. It wasn't that you actually became their friends, it's the fact that you keep going all over the place to try and get people to start shit with Bluehell after you got banned there.

Anyways, I don't know when you are going to get over the delusion that anyone over at Bluehell actually cares about you anymore.

It's almost as if that image you posted was a subconscious realization of your own "success" at trolling them, and making them care.

Keep standing at that podium, telling everyone that you have succeeded. I am sure someone will eventually believe you.
