I notice you don't deny looking like Butthurt Dweller. It is as expected.

I'm not sure "pissy" is the proper term to use for what I felt about you. It was more aptly described as "What the fuck does this kid think he's doing by writing about things he never experienced?" Unfortunately, it's difficult to convey that kind of thought to you. The last time I attempted, you brushed it off and continued derping it up. You have a storied history of doing that, this thread being a great example.

I said "watch these names pop up", I never said "every single person listed here will show up" in the same manner that you said "nobody at ButtHurtProductions cares." Unlike you, I don't like to write myself into a wall. There are no absolutes with Internet discussions.
