2) BHP didn't move domains because of my alleged "shenanigans". These "shenanigans" are the result of the way they moved domains. I hosted their site and paid for multiple domains out of my own pocket for years with no expectation of reciprocity. And one day they just up and left without so much as a "thanks for hosting us, but...". It was extremely rude and disrespectful. Kinda like meatspin. See how that works?

3) Pineapple.

Well Bluehell moved because of a lot of different things happening at the time.

A lot of nasty accusations going around from what I remember regarding security of the forums and their users and such.

I have not heard the full story, but I think there was some shenanigans with passwords.
