I saw $38 on the US Postal Service calculator for an envelope that we could send which would contain all of the pins for your particular area, so you could simply have your friends kick in a few dollars for shipping so that the $38 is matched by all of your contributions.

I'm not sure if there's a cheaper option than the USPS for international shipping.