I think it's quite clear from the video's that where in the thread you originally linked to, that an aimbot was already in use.

I do not think that that kind of about face turning on the spot could be achieved naturally, by reacting to a hacked rader.

However, the video shows a player joining two servers. I am quite sure that someone must have some logs of this guy's PI?

Did the guy join the servers after this thread was made? If so, then it would not of been from my PC.
