I can understand that, but I was referring to the TSR attacks. The Reborn (the old team) may have pissed many people off but I don't understand attacking the new team for trying to fix the old.

I think its fair to say Taz has nothing else better to do with his life then to try to fuck up what others have worked very hard on. He's probably a very lonely and sad person in real life and this is his way of taking his hardships of life, out on others. If anything I think we should just feel sorry for the guy. :Hugs:
