Great, so you're a hero now because you managed to find out how to disable flooding checks for radio commands with what I hope your intention was to get TT to fix that.

You're still an idiot for effectively hacking into the game and testing this thing out for yourself in public servers and pissing people off, on top of that you actually released the thing on these forums, lol - isn't that against forum rules?

Looks like you pissed off some people in Jelly, nice job:
