

---

Subject: Re: Help picking a laptop

Posted by Homey on Sun, 07 Oct 2012 22:16:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

If you're looking at spending $1500+ look nowhere other than Sager/Clevo. Seriously you'll get way more bang for your buck and a far more reliable laptop than anyone else. Lenovo seems to be good for the $600-1000 range, ASUS does have some good options in the lower $1000 area, but Clevo beats all of them hands down.

<http://forum.notebookreview.com/sager-clevo/592609-clevo-guide-v3-0-faq-reseller-info-read-before-posting.html>

Xoticpc is one of the better resellers around it seems. I would get the 7970m or 680m if it fits your budget. Both shit all over the 670m/675m in terms of performance. Xoticpc also sells an MSI with high end cards that is well priced.

---