how is hosting a game myself where every player's starting credits are 2.7 billion (which they can see on their screen as the set starting credits) cheating?

especially when i was requested by players to ad this feature to my patch alongside allowing other multiplayer options to be reading at startup and saved before the game is closed would be nice if the trolls here would actually try