Typical fucking democratic moron. Insurance companies have pre-emptively stopped covering lots of patients at private health care facilities retard.

I have no issue getting health care, and my insurance rates are only going up by about 10 dollars next year. Cite sources, or STFU.

Jesse wrote on Thu, 15 November 2012 14:08 Not many people can afford to pay for their glasses and eye exams out of pocket anymore in this economy that OBAMA CREATED.

Jesse wrote on Thu, 15 November 2012 14:08 So shut your Obama's dick sucking mouth about shit you know nothing about and be happy that you can continue to earn salary for a few more years behind a desk.

Jesse wrote on Thu, 15 November 2012 14:08 Interesting story, I was considering going pre-chiropractic but after interviewing four separate chiropractors at four different businesses they all told me it's not worth my time as almost no insurance providers will cover their patients anymore either and they're not sure how much longer they'll even be able to stay in business. Obama's healthcare reform is going to fuck over the entire United States but you don't care because at least socially he seems like a nice guy!

Jesse wrote on Thu, 15 November 2012 14:08 I like how you said it was my parents incompetence too as if they have any control over whether or not their patients can afford to see them. Changing your prices to mass market Walmart reading glasses prices of 3.95 is just not possible. God damn I wish there weren't so many fucking idiots here haha. This country is fucked.

Can be interpreted as:

Jesse wrote on Thu, 15 November 2012 14:08 Wah, I'm an entitled white kid whose parents can't pay for his life anymore, so the darkie in office is the problem! When we do well, it's because we're Randian supermen whose power is limitless! When we fail, it's because TEH GUBBERMINT NEGRO is keeping us down because he hates white people!

For the record, anecdotes are not evidence. And really, are you fucking retarded? Wal*Mart's pricing has nothing to do with the PPACA. If you can't compete in the "free market", perhaps your family should look at doing business where they have a chance of competing.
