no offense but if your life is so boring that playing video games and "not trying" unless you're playing competitive is really all you have to do i'd reevaluate my decisions.

"i have nothing to do, let me not try in this video game for fun"

tbh i hate when people say "i'm not trying" .. can you imagine making a basketball team and in practice the whole time your friends fuck around and kick the balls off the wall and dunk on their own basket and then when you try to be serious they just say "dont worry dude i dont try unless its a game" .. that logic doesn't apply to anything in life lmao
