
Subject: Attachment limit in TT subforum is set to one item per message

Posted by Veyrdite on Sun, 06 Jan 2013 07:50:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm not sure who currently runs this site, so I can't send this as a PM. When I was last around, Crimson used to be in charge, but AFAIK she left.

The TT subforum currently has an attachment limit of one item per message, whilst the other subforums seem to have the normal of 10. I was expecting the ten when I wrote my guide on using Renegade on Linux (the new one), but found out that this is not true, and want to resolve this so I can put all of the images back in to support the text. NB The two desktop images are unimportant, and I have no plans to host them here

Is this intentional? I always prefer to host the image on the same forum as the information, as external image hosters have a habit of making your images disappear, or disappearing themselves.

Regards, William
