KIRBY098Yes. It says:

BI-POLAR DISORDER!

No, Bi-Polar is a manic depressive. Happy one minute and sad the next. He would be

Multiple Personality Disorder (Dissociative Identity Disorder) is the existence within a person of two or more distinct personalities. The different personalities are referred to as "alters". Alters may have experienced a distinct personal history, self-image, and identity, including a separate name, as well as age. At least two of these personalities recurrently take control of the person's behavior
