"You should ban that electro person, he is a known <multiple accusations of similar things to what he did in our server, don't recall exactly> in the Renegade community and is banned from XWIS".

My response? I said I wasn't aware of any history involving him and unless he starts kicking off in our servers I'm not personally going to take any action against him. I actually stuck up for the guy and then he goes and does this. Lol.

i havent played renegade in like 5 years. only tiberian sun on xwis and i was never a problem on xwis until the past few months because of the sean3z guy they put in charge of tiberian sun. he doesnt play the game but i knew him from when tiberian sun came out so he started bothering me and implementing server rules. hes a server script kiddie and wants to control tiberian sun server its his wet dream. he used to hack it with a few other nerds thats how i knew him. you could say i have a problem with authority. before he was around i was never banned from xwis since it replaced westwood online. when someone starts throwing anticheat crap in your face and having a server bot ban you for swearing and the head admin guy wont stop harassing you and starts editing your posts on forums etc i took action and trolleld them. if you see i was on bluehell site for a while as dreamcaseal. since a few years ago. im sure i have another account there too before that. when i started getting annoyed you didnt release the mod on time and i noticed most the mods and admins had attitudes thats when i started having a attitude of my own. basically if you behaved i wouldnt have done anything. but some of you are jackasses so i turned into one too. the end.
