he was struggling with scripts 4.0 but eventually got it to work (or so i hope)

Quote:EDIT: I got it to work! but you and others should know that avast! antivirus seems to really hate the scripts .exe, it calls it a virus and I had to pretty much disable avast so I could download a FULL copy of the file (one that avast didn't chop in half when it stopped the download) and then keep avast off so I could install the scripts, even when I turned avast back on it still wanted to kill scripts .exe but anyway I should be good to go now.
