Get the word out to the public once the forums have been cleansed of the putrescent stench of Internet Friends Clique.

I tried my hand at spreading the word of Reborn to most of the people I go to school with, and most of them did not appear to have much interest in it because either they think the graphics look rather dated, which is understandable since most FPS-playing people nowadays want eye candy in their games, and/or they are not too familiar with the C&C series in general.

As for me, I continue to play Reborn and the rest of the Bluehell projects not just because I test them internally with the rest of the BHP team, but because they represent in my opinion an extension of Renegade through their multiplayer. My most favorite C&C is RA1 and when I found out (in early 2006) that RA1 was turned into a FPS, I just had to play it without realizing or understanding its unit balances at the time, just because of the amazing idea of playing as one of your favorite units.

Also, who are you referring to by weirdo fucks? Is it the dev team, or the actual wierdos that discuss in the public forums? (when you see a guy named APB_ICE, ask him about the Illuminati)

In regards to that, I am not offended by such association just because I perform my testing duties with them. Like what Iran said, there is much entertainment to be had with this and surrounding communities, including BHP, regardless of who is doing what and why.
