ACK doesn't want to spend any more of his time on this game - you're acting like he's in the wrong for making that decision at the same time, he's pointing out that zunnie starts multiple projects and doesn't actually finish any of them (as did Titan, who was ignored) people on the MPF forums actually raised that same point, but zunnie deleted all the posts (surprised me a little, actually) it seemed like legitimate criticism to me, but it was struck down and removed purely because the owner did not like or agree with it that's not something they do over at Jelly
