Trojan/Volcom is a corrupt sleezeball. Anyone with two or more handles used simultaneously are not trustworthy.

Trojan/Volcom and his history with Renegade is absolutely terrifying. He has bought communities in the past only to destroy them within a short amount of time, as well as hilarious attempts at starting up his own community. Ironically, most if not all attempts (including purchasing as well as creating communities) included that middle-aged worthless human being shaitan - the fuck got fired from Wal-Mart - while he made fun of Xpert becoming a Manager at McDonalds? As a member of the RenCorner community, I tried to warn Animoski right when Trojan came around, that he would be bad news and there is more than probably some kind of ploy with shaitan.

He is COMPLETELY incapable of running a community. When Animoski ran shit, downtime would be at most, 20 minutes and on average about 5 minutes. Remember when Animoski got banned, it took Trojan about a week to get all his stolen already functional servers working? I bet you didn't know he also wiped 3 other communities that were hosted on the same servers at the same time, just to get rid of an invisible intruder. Pathetic, absolutely pathetic.

Trojan/Volcom is not the intended owner of RenCorner, he only manipulated all you slow brained retards by buying everyone a copy of Killing Floor and giving away status to people in the community that Animoski would actually spend time on considering, instead of just giving it out. Yes, he bought Animoski out, but all you sacks of crap did the same thing.

Trojan/Volcom ABUSED the good nature of Animoski by taking his weaknesses and abusing it. Animoski does not come from money, he wasn't born in a rich family that would later allow him to make $300K a year, however Trojan/Volcom has and flaunted money around Animoski and the ENTIRE RenCorner community for months, all to gain your trust. Let's not forget, Trojan/Volcom originally "invested" over $1,000 in a hosting company called "NeronHost" that at the time and for months after did not even have a website, for co-ownership with Animoski and as a side bonus, included becoming Head Administrator at RenCorner.

All of you that have turned your back on Animoski is a damn fool. He actually trusted you guys with more than half his power that came from status and you spat in his face and i'm disgusted with the worthless people in this community.

Animoski; you will never know who I am or did all that i've done for you. If you happen to read this, check your e-mail.

LOL
