The American propaganda is so sophisticated in comparison to older ones we see in history like Hitler's Germany.

If you actually look learn about what happened in German politics from roughly 1932 to 1939, you'll notice [s]ALOT[/s] A LOT of similarities to what's been happening in American politics between roughly 2001 to 2013 (now) Can we learn from history and see where we might be going?

Just saying... =) Obama appeared so promising on his run, change!! we were at war in two countries when he ran on the promise of bringing the troops back, 5 years later.. how many countries are we at war in now? 6? he's taken more freedoms away and added more taxes? and we still believe in him? how did this happen lol

You are a complete, utter retard

The war in Iraq has been over since 2011. The only country we're fighting in is Afghanistan and that isn't a war against the nation itself. The President doesn't take away freedom by himself. Congress has to help. You know, those other 575 guys that exist. You know, the guys that set budgets, levy taxes, pass laws, et al.

Take a civics class and shut the fuck up until you're at least minimally literate in civics
