dufis791so tecnically geting/sharing files through AIM is LEGAL?

and 1 more thing, i dont put ne1 but friends (or aquantances) on my buddy list.

and thanx for yalls help.

SOME MORE PROOF WOULD BE REALY NICE!!!

No it is ILLEGAL. Where did I say it was legal? NO music company distributes music on the internet, so how can the original hard copy be on your computer in the first place? It can't. So transferring music, or any other copyrighted material through any sort of program, whether it be a peer to peer program like kazaa, or an IM program like AIM is not legal in any way shape or form.

The only way you can share copyrighted material with someone is to give them the original hard copy while following the restrictions I supplied in my first post.
