I compile them on 2013, so yes. If you don't also have VS2012 installed you'll need to convert the project files (it basically changes the toolset from vc110 to vc120) first, but VS takes care of this for you. If you still have VS012 installed too you don't even need to convert, just tell it to use the VS2012 toolset when compiling (it'll ask you which to do when you load the solution)
