You know, as a summation of my give-or-take 18 month tenure playing this game, I would like to say that I crushed my enemies, saw them driven before me, and heard the lamentation of their or see them driven before me, but the sad fact is that you fatties have no women for me to hear the lamentations of. I will, however, concede that 2 out of 3 is not bad at all.

into your computer? Is it plausible that they just want to curb cheating in Renegade? Well sure, I you anyway.

once again pisses off the wrong people (Christ, it happens enough now. Seems every other day some part of that community is under attack from hackers, script kiddies, and what-have-you), and

Once again this guy is nothing but a bulling piece of scum that will end up working at Mcdonalds his enitre life because no one wants to hire someone who is that judgementle and that much of a complete asshole. I certintly dont care if crimson and blazer and who ever it is your reffering to is over wieght niether of them have ever been inconsiderit to me or called me names like that, they both have helped trumendisly in the community to keep it together and provide us all with a better experience for renegade. Do you really think that they would use it as spywhere? Everyone knows who they are there real names and the city they live in it woulnt be hard to find them if they did and it wouldnt be all that hard to prove and they seem pretty damn smart so no thats not what they are doing. And tell me if we didnt have blazer ACK crimson ect who would make something to stop these cheating bastards??? What shape would the official forum be??? Where would we all report our n00bs too?? Where would we all be with out the hundreds of awsome maps ACK has made?? Im sure a lot of people feel the same way i do.

not know, today (September 23rd) is the 1-year anniversary of the first taskbot7 report going on the books. I feel it really stands as more of a symbol of the legacy I am leaving here.
