No it does not. It's just one of the errors I see pop up frequently when I get a stutter, it pops up other times when a stutter does not happen though, same with the other errors. It may be unrelated because there are often other errors that come with the ShatterPlanes1 error usually. Those errors are just the most common I see occur when a stutter occurs. The null and blank '' errors I get are only when a stutter occurs, I have yet to see them get logged without a stutter happening.
