
Subject: Re: more guns in america = less crime
Posted by Starbuzz on Mon, 03 Nov 2014 01:58:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In nikki, we have SUCH a dishonest individual that whines about "holding grand debates" then quips about the "corprotocracy;" his only intention is to somehow come out on top in this discussion. Why else would he dismiss us off as Libertarians and act smart? Who do you think I was talking about when I mentioned "elites." Government? Nope.

I am just an immigrant talking about things as I see them in this country of most magnificent deceptions and illusions. I didn't ask to be called a Libertarian. I was branded in just a space of a few posts. Whose problem is that? YOURS and YOURS alone. That's the problem with people having false ideologies like nikki is they see someone sticking up for the small guy and instantly feel threatened by our rugged individualism. Then they jump the gun and brand us. The real loser is us all, you included. Why? We are not going to agree on anything.

You are not interested in bridging the gap between and from the very start see everything from a Left VS Right perspective. By falling for the trick of branding opponents, we are kept fighting indefinitely and you come out and make big talk about "playing into the hands of the corprotocracy."

You don't even have the basic honesty to read what I have been saying all along and acknowledge as fact what is common sense. Then you jump to corporatocracy.

You do know that the corporatocracy...the elites...their colossal monopolies are government-backed right? That government has been usurped and choke full of their agents and traitors and now acts as mere yes-men and watchdogs over the people? That this is the reason, and THE ONLY REASON why we have the slide towards militarized police? To cover the asses of the usurpers? That it is vital that the peoples, whatever protection that they have left, be strengthened and not eroded? That towards this regard, I have already explained the relationship between ownership of weapons and the balance of power? KEEP DODGING THIS POINT, NIKKI.

I am frankly tired of your cocky spewing of poisonous false ideologies because it's people like yourself that perpetuate this paradigm. And I am having none of it.

By the way, how are we supposed to deal with lies? You say I am doing nothing. I am spreading the word around and letting people know the nature of the beast. Not just here but in my community IRL. It's a small thing to do against a big beast. What have you been doing, nikki? For years now, repeating the same bs here and on Jelly, throwing people off with that attitude, picking up forum cool points. And you have the nerve to accuse me of "vidya gaming and holding grand debates."

Gun grabber simpletons are going to do a lot better at reading and understanding the depths of the issues they pretend to know so much about. How about the war on the family unit? Under the mask of "free speech" every sort of indecency is perpetrated leading to destroyed individuals with the inability to keep a family together for more than 3 years and leading to broken homes. The children of these families have wretched lives that almost always end up as depressed drugged up psychos that end up in mass shootings.

Yes, let's still go for the law-abiding citizens' guns. That will solve all our problems! That's what the elites exactly want and you fools are pawns to fall for it and demand everyone disarm.

edit: typo.
