I dont have Java installed because its a bug-ridden piece of crap (I say that as someone who has not only USED Java in the past but actually WRITTEN Java code) but the web based IRC client would fail in the same way since it appears to route IRC traffic straight from your local machine to the n00bstories IRC server.
As someone who develops in Java all day at work I can confirm this statement that java is indeed a piece of crap, and even when bugs are the issue its busy wasting resources out the ass.

never programmed in Java, but used Java.. the errors and problems.. (memory leak mostly).

They should another black list or remove it, we're still banned.
