The script for this was removed after scripts 4.0. It was called z_capturable_tibsilo. It should be added back in, in my opinion as quite a few custom maps make use of it. I made a clone of this script myself (from scratch) with the same parameters as the original so that it is compatible with the existing maps but also have much cleaner code and operation. If you want a copy of the code I would be glad to share it with you.
