BlazerOkay so there was a disagreement that happened. Lets throw some water on the fire instead of gasoline, and just let this die down okay? You two are NOT going to end your friendship over a temporary one day disagreement! If nothing else just avoid talking about it for a few days, I'm sure that after everyone has had some sleep/sex/food/whatever, things won't seem so bad.

Don't worry, I'm not letting him end it that easily. I felt our friendship was strong enough to disagree with one of his decisions. I apologize for that mistake.
