because wtf is the point less then 500 people play this game now more leaving every day and halo or half life 2 arnt even out yet. Wtf do u think is going to happen when they come out.

Halo took the whole clanwars renegade community some of the n00bie community and a few of you guys.

So after Halo all thats left is a few of you hardcore renegade guys and newbies/n00bies.

Then Half life 2 comes out and i think thats what most of you are waiting for.

After that comes out it will take a good portion of you guys leaveing only a few scared n00bstories community people left and some newbies/n00bies i figure around 100 people left.

Not to mention the passage of time will take people

Making those crappy ass websites that know one ever looks at will do what to keep this game alive? Nothing

What exactly are you guys doing to keep renegade alive? Mods?

Ren Alert Sucked so thats not going to do the trick.

Reborn? It might be good but who cares its just a mod it will never be great enough to bring people back for longer then a day.

Hell its not like i dont like this game its just that im not going to say the game is alive because theres 500 people playing it...

The game is dead...let it go.
