They were gifted the parts of the original Renegade source code around 2009 by Apoc. And they RE'd most of the other code.

No one can tell if they use the GPL'd source code or not, if they just rename some things inside the fuctions (e.g. variables) and use slightly different control statements no one can tell if it's RE'd code or GPL code.

It's stupid to act as if it's a real issue.
