Thanks for the replies. I am actually on a cable modem & have no problem viewing the signatures... well I do. Some peoples signatures are real unnecessarily long & annoying to look at. It would be cool if there was like a signature length limit. A signature shouldn't be much more than (at the max) some sort of picture with some text.

You get the people quoting huge batches of text coupled with pics, and they type in a 1 line reply, then you see their real long signature.. it's the only thing I dislike about these boards. Everything else = cool.
